

Why don't we fill the HF bands with everyone too lazy to learn anything, then make the ones that work the hardest take the code test. Maybe they could take your test and all they would have to do is send your license.